

My Heart Will Sing

I'm terrified of falling
If I ever let you go
And if you ever take your wings away
I'm scared of dropping like a stone
It's you who keeps me humble
It's you who keeps me strong
It's you who keeps my head above the water

*Sing, my heart will sing
When the darkness crowds around
My heart will sing
When the light is almost out
I trust my king
And I will serve you God
Through everything
Every trial each day brings
My heart will sing*

Your seal is unbreakable
Your promises don't die
And every time I trip and fall
You're right here by my side
You lift my burdens
When they're dragging on my soul
And breathe in me the scent of
The fresh green grass of home

*Sing, my heart will sing
When the darkness crowds around
My heart will sing
When the light is almost out
I trust my king
And I will serve you God
Through everything
Every trial each day brings
My heart will sing*
