

Silver To Gold

Silver turned to gold
New wine poured from old
From fishes and loaves
Joy from pain and life from death
The blind can see and the weary rest
Safe within your nest
You cry:

Give me your worries, give me your cares
And I will smooth away your fears
My yoke is easy, my burden is light
There's love within my eyes
And blessing on my lips, my arms are always open wide
There's life inside the light

Shelter from the storm
Peace in place of war
And comfort when we fall
In the shadow of your wings
We walk beside the king
In the peace your spirit brings
You cry:

Give me your worries, give me your cares
And I will smooth away your fears
My yoke is easy, my burden is light
There's love within my eyes
And blessing on my lips, my arms are always open wide
There's life inside the light

*In the silence of the night
When you're weary from the fight
And the weight of the world
Weighs heavy on your shoulders
My promises aren't dead
I meant it when I said,
'I'll never leave, I'll never let you go'
The colour of my love
Is painted crimson in the blood
Of the lamb, of the man who was God
Every time you fall
I'll gladly take it all
Your pain and your hurt has been paid for*

Give me your worries, give me your cares
And I will smooth away your fears
My yoke is easy, my burden is light
There's love within my eyes
And blessing on my lips, my arms are always open wide
There's life inside the light